Maumee River Overlook is a high forested embankment overlooking the Maumee River. A water-powered sawmill was located there on Bull Rapids, an outcrop of rocks in the river to the east. Lumber from the mill was used in the Wabash-Erie Canal that ran along the south border of the preserve.

Directions:

From New Haven (I-469 exit 21), travel northeast on US 24 approximately 7.5 miles. Preserve is on the left ½ mile past Sampson Rd., just before a cemetery.
